Help Patients Make Informed Flu and RSV Prevention Decisions

As flu and respiratory virus season continues, vaccine guidance may vary and cause confusion. We encourage members to discuss any questions or concerns they may have with you, their primary care provider, so you can help them decide what's right for them. Some members may face barriers to getting vaccinated. Please remind them that:

- There is no cost to receive these vaccines.
- Translation and interpreter services are available to support patients in their preferred language.

Your recommendation matters and is one of the strongest influences on a member's decision to get vaccinated. Please take a moment to discuss the benefits of flu and RSV vaccines during this flu season. For current information, visit www.cdc.gov/vaccines or www.cdc.gov/acip.

Thank you for your continued efforts to keep our communities healthy.
